SENATOR WM. H. SEWARD IN OUR COURT Jan 11 - Sickles and Another vs. Foung & Cutter. The suit of Wm. B. Sickles and others against Daniel Young and Stephen Cutter, which was an action for the afringement of a patent of "a steam out off," has occu-Betts presiding—for several days past; and though Sena-ter Wm. H. Seward was engaged as eading counsel for the defence, no particular attention was attracted until sterday morning, when it was understood that that barned gentleman was to sum up on behalf of his client, and accordingly a large number of spectators as-membled; but if they came to hear a flow of forensic eloquence, or a speech to excite their sympathies, they must have been disappointed, for there was no scope here for oratorical display, nor did Mr. Seward at any one time soar beyond a mere argumentative comparison of the slips and slides and wedges of the two machines. endeavoring to show more by figures of fact than figures emdeavoring to show more by figures of fact than figures of speech that the steam cut off of his elient was dissimilar from that of the plaintiff—different in the mechanical mode of operation, and that it was no infringement, but a separate and distinct invention, though for the same purpose. The man and the whale, said he, are offthe same genus, but then the man is a man and the whale a whale, and so the difference between them. In alluding to the testimony of one of the witnesses, who had said that a paper knife could be so used as to cut the band as easily as a steel knife, Mr. Seward said that he thought Sebastopel would long remain untaken if the allies have abandoned the use of the old iron balls for the states.

he thought Schastopol would long remain untaken if the allies have abandoned the une of the old iron bails for the attack.

Mr. Seward spoke from the sirging of the Court, at 11 e'clock, to its rising, at 2½. He spoke in a tales, composed manner throughout, never a sieg his voice beyond the level of its ordinary tone, and with a total absence of that excitement of manner and violent gesticulation so common to some of our lawyers. He walked to and from the table to the jury, and then to the different models of the respective part es, pointing out this slip and that slide and valve, and comparing the two as widely different in their mode of operation. The connect concluded his speech by thus speaking of steam,—"Olt is a wonderful agent, gentlemen of the jury. The government of the nation may betray its trust—the press may turn traiter to freedom—and the pulpit may become false to humanity—such things have happened in other countries and in other ages besides our own; but here is a locomotive power, the production of the human mind—an agent which, if it is preserved, and is kept employed at the printing press, and in all other developements of human industry, upon sea and upon land, by night and day, and if the mind is left free and cheered on in applying the necessary improvements to perfect it, it will canalle us to counteract all injurious tendencies of government, or press, or church; and those things being moved, our fondest hopes for our country, not only, but for the elevation of mankind and the condition of human mature, will be realized."

Counsel for the plaintiff will sum up this morning.

Pirst District Court. Before Hon. Judge Green.

ACTION AGAINST A CONSTABLE FOR ILLEGAL SEIZURE.

Jan. 9.—Henry Pinck et. Charles Kruger.—This was an action against a constable, to recover damages for wrongfully taking and converting to his own use 1,000 segars, the property of the plaintiff, of the alloged value of $40. It appeared in evidence that a suit was com-menced in this court against the plaintiff for a violation menced in this court against the plaintiff for a violation of a corporation ordinance (in encumbaring the street), by a fictitious name; the defendant in this soit was the constable who served the summons in that suit. He served it on Mr. Finck's clerk, and returned it to the court as personally served, whereupon, after hearing pasof, the Judge gave judgment for 35 fine and costs (Mr. Finck not appearing in that suit), and the clerk issued execution in such fictitious name for the collection of the same, and placed it in the hands of the defendant, Mr. Kruger, to be executed, who thereupon levied upon the segars in question, and took them away with him. The plaintiff proved that he paid $25 a thousand for the segars, and retailed them out of his store as four cente seath. The Judge decided that a person might be sued by a fictitious name, when the real same is not known to the prosecutor, but in such case it must appear that the summons has been served on the proper person; it not so served, judgment cannot be entered up against him. In this case, it appears that the summons was served on the clerk, instead of Mr. Finck, and the defendant thereupon levied on the property of the plaintiff, who had not been served with the first process, as before stated. I am, therefore, of an opinion that the plaint if it entitled to indement for the damage a, and that the constable have liberty to pay the costs.

Take from three to six—they will be sure to do you good. The next day, even, you will feel a new creature. Schould these warnings have remained some time unheeded, rheumatisms, fevers, small pox, consumption, appropheries, construeness, billious aftertions, jaundies, dropsy, piles, or some other form of disease, will present itself; but, even then, no medicine is equal to Brandreth's pills. Use them, in these cases, according as the symptoms may seem to require; they will cure sooner than all the medicine of the drug store.

In order to know truth from conjecture, we must be guided by the light of experience. One hundred and three years have proved Brandreth's pills and the human body are mutually adapted one for the other; they entirely regenerate and purify the blood; they are sure to do good, because they only take out of the body what is hurtful. I can refer to those who have used them over seventy years.

Man will be born to days of comfort, compared to what has formerly been his lot, weighed down as he has been by disease, infirmities and sufferings, which no earthly power knew how to relieve until this blessed medicine was discovered. And yet, comparatively, how few have availed themselves of its great benefits! Not over one in twenty in the Union use it. Oh, prejudice, the fatal prejudice, when wilt thou relax thy iron grasp upon the intellect of mankind?

Must the world continue to use baneful mercury, to lose blood, to be thus often ruined in constitution, when Brandreth's pills would, in three days, have restored the patient to an improved state of health. Over one million persons have experienced their good effects, and daily recommend them to the afflicted.
